

Eleita Capital Mundial do Livro, Rio tem bibliotecas históricas

A cidade do Rio de Janeiro foi escolhida como a Capital Mundial do Livro em 2025, uma iniciativa da Organização das Nações Unidas para a Educação, a Ciência e a Cultura (Unesco) que reconhece anualmente municípios que promovem a leitura para todos os grupos sociais e faixas etárias.

Esta foi a primeira vez que uma capital de língua portuguesa recebeu o título. Em 2024, Estrasburgo, na França, ficou com a distinção. Madri, Alexandria, Bogotá, Amsterdã, Buenos Aires e Atenas já carregaram o título no passado.

Em comunicado à imprensa, a Unesco afirmou que o patrimônio literário do Rio de Janeiro é de suma importância social. O órgão também destacou a "visão claramente definida e um plano de ação para promover a literatura, a sustentabilidade do mercado editorial e a leitura entre os jovens, aproveitando as tecnologias digitais".

Audrey Azoulay, diretora-geral da Unesco, ressaltou que os livros são veículos essenciais para acessar, transmitir e promover educação, ciência, cultura e informação. "Graças aos livros, nós nos mantemos informados, nos divertimos e somos capazes de entender melhor o nosso mundo", comentou em nota.

O ano de comemorações do Rio como a Capital Mundial do Livro teve início no fim de abril. A cidade do Rio de Janeiro é sede da Bienal do Livro do Rio, uma das maiores feiras da área em toda América Latina. A última edição, de 2023, bateu recorde de público com mais de 600 mil visitantes e vendeu cerca de 5,5 milhões de livros, segundo a organização. Em 2025, o evento começa em 13 de junho.

Outro destaque aconteceu no ano passado, quando o Rio de Janeiro anunciou rotas literárias para apresentar a vida de escritores como Machado de Assis, Lima Barreto, Clarice Lispector e Rachel de Queiroz por meio de um aplicativo. A iniciativa uniu história, cultura e tecnologia para destacar autores da cidade em audioguias disponíveis no site oficial da EmbraturLab.

O Rio de Janeiro também recebeu da Unesco o reconhecimento de Cidade Criativa da Literatura, em 2023. Segundo o órgão, a capital usa a literatura como ferramenta para abordar desigualdades e melhorar a qualidade de vida da população.

A cidade também guarda locais históricos e culturais da literatura local e mundial. Entre eles, o público pode conhecer e visitar as bibliotecas do Real Gabinete Português de Leitura e da Academia Brasileira de Letras.

TEXT I – The Role of Motivation in Learning English as a Second Language

Learning English as a second language can be a long and challenging process. Students often face difficulties such as unfamiliar grammar rules, pronunciation differences, and vocabulary gaps. However, one factor that significantly affects success in learning is motivation. Motivated students tend to participate more actively in class, complete assignments, and practice the language outside the classroom.

There are two main types of motivation: intrinsic and extrinsic. Intrinsic motivation comes from the student's internal desire to learn, such as personal interest in English culture or the joy of learning new languages. On the other hand, extrinsic motivation is related to external rewards, like passing an exam, getting a job promotion, or meeting school requirements. Both types of motivation play an important role in language learning.

Teachers can use different strategies to increase student motivation. One effective method is to create engaging and meaningful activities. For example, using real-life situations like role-plays, interviews, or debates can make students feel that what they are learning is useful and relevant. Also, providing positive feedback and celebrating small achievements helps build student confidence and encourages continuous effort.

Another essential factor is setting realistic goals. When students see progress over time, such as learning a certain number of new words per week or being able to hold a short conversation, they feel more motivated to continue. Clear and achievable targets make the learning process less overwhelming and more enjoyable.

Finally, it is important for teachers to understand the individual needs and interests of their students. Adapting lessons to include topics that students enjoy, such as music, movies, or travel, can make classes more dynamic and inspiring. Motivation is not something fixed; it can grow with the right teaching approach and a supportive classroom environment.

21) What is one example of intrinsic motivation for learning English, according to the text?

- (A) Studying English to pass a job interview.
- (B) Learning English because of school requirements.
- (C) Wanting to learn more about English culture.
- (D) Getting a promotion at work.
- (E) Preparing for an English language exam.

22) Which strategy is mentioned in the text as a way to increase student motivation in the ESL classroom?

- (A) Giving students only grammar exercises.
- (B) Providing positive feedback and celebrating achievements.
- (C) Avoiding real-life communication activities.
- (D) Punishing students for mistakes.
- (E) Ignoring student progress.

23) According to the text, why is it important to set realistic goals for ESL students?

- (A) To make lessons more difficult and challenging.
- (B) To reduce the teacher's workload.
- (C) To help students see progress and stay motivated.
- (D) To discourage students from making mistakes.
- (E) To limit the number of activities in each class.

24) According to the text, which of the following best exemplifies a pedagogically sound approach to tailoring ESL instruction that fosters sustained learner engagement and intrinsic motivation?

- (A) Prioritizing prescriptive grammar instruction while disregarding individual learner profiles.
- (B) Contextualizing instructional content by aligning it with learners' interests, such as cultural phenomena or leisure activities.
- (C) Standardizing all instructional materials to ensure homogeneity across diverse student cohorts.
- (D) Curtailing opportunities for learner interaction to minimize classroom unpredictability.
- (E) Designing curricula exclusively focused on standardized test preparation, with limited thematic variety.

O texto II refere-se às questões 25 e 26.

TEXTO II - "Ordinary" by Alex Warren

They say, "The holy water's watered down
And this town's lost its faith
Our colors will fade eventually"
So if our time is runnin' out
Day after day
We'll make the mundane our masterpiece

Oh my, my
Oh my, my love
I take one look at you

You're takin' me out of the ordinary
I want you layin' me down 'til we're dead and buried
On the edge of your knife, stayin' drunk on your vine
The angels up in the clouds are jealous, knowin' we found

Somethin' so out of the ordinary
You got me kissin' the ground of your sanctuary
Shatter me with your touch, oh Lord, return me to dust
The angels up in the clouds are jealous, knowin' we found

Hopeless hallelujah
On this side of Heaven's gate
Oh, my life, how do ya
Breathe and take my breath away?
At your altar, I will pray
You're the sculptor, I'm the clay

25) According to the song, how does the speaker describe the impact of the loved one on his life?

- (A) As someone who brings routine and predictability.
- (B) As someone who takes him out of the ordinary and awakens deep emotions.
- (C) As a distant and indifferent person.
- (D) As an authoritarian figure who controls all his actions.
- (E) As someone who prefers to keep the relationship secret and hidden.

26) Considering the poetic features of the song "Ordinary", what is the main effect of the use of metaphors such as "The angels up in the clouds are jealous" and "You're the sculptor, I'm the clay"?

- (A) They introduce a logical explanation of the relationship, using scientific language.
- (B) They create a humorous tone, reducing the emotional intensity of the lyrics.
- (C) They focus on social criticism regarding religious beliefs.
- (D) They provide detailed physical descriptions of the characters involved.
- (E) They emphasize the speaker's emotional dependence and idealization of the loved one through imagery of creation and divine envy.

TEXTO III - How the Minnesota Shootings Suspect Was Caught¹²

After an intense two-day manhunt, Minnesota police captured Vance Boelter, 57, the suspect accused of shooting two state lawmakers and their spouses. The arrest took place on Sunday evening in a rural field near Minneapolis. Despite being armed at the time, Mr. Boelter was taken into custody without the use of force, according to official reports.

The case began early Saturday morning when police responded to a shooting at the home of State Senator John Hoffman. Concerned that the suspect might target other political figures, officers quickly went to the residence of Representative Melissa Hortman. Upon their arrival, Mr. Boelter opened fire on them before escaping on foot through a golf course located behind the house. This incident marked the beginning of what authorities called the largest manhunt in Minnesota's history.

Throughout the weekend, more than 100 officers and nearly 20 SWAT teams were deployed across Sibley County, a largely rural area southwest of Minneapolis. Law enforcement agencies worked together, setting up a temporary command center in a nearby parking lot to coordinate search operations.

The breakthrough in the search came on Sunday afternoon when officers discovered Mr. Boelter's car and hat abandoned on a remote stretch of road. This discovery significantly narrowed the search area. Later, an officer reported seeing someone, believed to be the suspect, running into a wooded area nearby.

Further confirmation came when a local resident provided footage from a trail camera installed on private property. The image captured on the camera showed a person matching Mr. Boelter's description. Acting on this evidence, police established a one-square-mile perimeter, deploying drones and police dogs to assist in tracking the suspect's movements.

Using aerial surveillance, officers spotted Mr. Boelter crawling through thick shrubs. Drones tracked him from above, allowing SWAT teams to converge on his location without engaging in a violent confrontation. Authorities emphasized that despite the suspect being armed, the arrest was made peacefully and without incident.

Following the capture, a photo was released showing Mr. Boelter standing in the field where he was apprehended. The image was edited to obscure the faces of the arresting officers for privacy and security reasons. At the command center, law enforcement officials celebrated the successful end to the operation.

Investigators later praised the rapid response and coordination among different police departments. Officials noted that the quick decision by Brooklyn Park officers to check Representative Hortman's home shortly after the first shooting may have prevented further violence and shortened the duration of the manhunt.

Texto IV

According to repeated nationwide surveys,

More Doctors Smoke CAMELS than any other cigarette!

Doctors in every branch of medicine were asked, "What cigarette do you smoke?" The brand named most was Camel!

You'll enjoy Camels for the same reasons so many doctors enjoy them. Camels have cool, cool mildness, pack after pack, and a flavor unmatched by any other cigarette. Make this sensible year. Smoke only Camels for 30 days and see how well Camels please your taste, how well they soothe your throat as you steadily smoke. You'll see how enjoyable a cigarette can be!

THE DOCTORS' CHOICE IS AMERICA'S CHOICE!

BARBARA HARRIS says, "I like Camels. They taste just as smooth and pure as medicine."
DR. ROBERT SMITH says, "I get satisfaction from Camels that I don't get from other brands."
DR. JOHN DILLON says, "Camels are the taste and throat. I've smoked 'em for years!"

For 30 days, test Camels in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste).

33) Considering the grammatical structure of comparatives and the pragmatic intention of issuing a health warning, which of the following sentences appropriately conveys the idea that smoking represents a more detrimental health choice when compared to another habitual activity?

- (A) Smoking Camels is more dangerous than exercising.
- (B) Smoking Camels is as healthy as drinking water.
- (C) Smoking Camels is less harmful than eating vegetables.
- (D) Smoking Camels is better than sleeping.
- (E) Smoking Camels is the healthiest activity for doctors.

34) From a rhetorical and discourse analysis perspective, which strategy does the advertisement predominantly employ to mitigate potential consumer apprehension regarding the adverse health effects of smoking?

- (A) By presenting peer-reviewed medical studies that validate the health benefits of cigarettes.
- (B) By appealing to professional authority figures (doctors) to implicitly endorse the product's safety.
- (C) By explicitly displaying health warnings concerning the dangers of smoking.
- (D) By drawing favorable comparisons between smoking and physical exercise.
- (E) By marketing cigarettes as natural, organic, and free of harmful chemicals.

35) Which sentence contains an incorrect use of the comparative form?

- (A) English is more difficult than Spanish.
- (B) Speaking is more interesting than writing.
- (C) This exercise is easier than the previous one.
- (D) Reading is most enjoyable than memorizing grammar rules.
- (E) Listening is better than ignoring.

36) Which sentence is the correct passive voice transformation of: "The teacher explains the grammar rule"?

- (A) The grammar rule was explained by the teacher.
- (B) The grammar rule is explained by the teacher.
- (C) The teacher is explaining the grammar rule.
- (D) The grammar rule explains the teacher.
- (E) The teacher has explained the grammar rule.

37) According to modern ESL teaching approaches, which classroom activity best integrates the four skills: reading, writing, listening, and speaking?

- (A) Silent reading of a short story.
- (B) Listening to a podcast without any follow-up.
- (C) Watching a video and then writing and discussing a summary with classmates.
- (D) Filling in blanks with correct verb tenses.
- (E) Memorizing vocabulary lists.

38) Which sentence contains a correct use of the third conditional to express regret about a past event?

- (A) If I study more, I will pass the exam.
- (B) If I had studied more, I would have passed the exam.
- (C) If I study more, I would pass the exam.
- (D) If I had studied more, I will pass the exam.
- (E) If I studied more, I would have passed the exam.

O texto V refere-se às questões 39 e 40.
